

Undergraduate-Focused Engineering Deans Group Meeting

Sunday, April 8, 2018 (Day 1)

12:00pm – 1:30pm

We are assembling for the first time at EDI 2018 a group of engineering deans:

- whose colleges or schools have a primary focus on undergraduate engineering;
- who have an interest in contributing to a new network of engineering colleges with common interests and challenges toward sharing of best practices and collaboration in win-win situations.

Over a working lunch, we will introduce ourselves, discuss possible goals and approaches of the group, and decide on next steps. We envision our group sharing challenges and best practices, seeking opportunities for collaboration, and evolving a common shared vision for undergraduate engineering education. If you would like to participate, please register for this meeting (log in to your ASEE account, go to EDI conference and add a free ticket; ticket is available only in case you have registered for EDI). We would like to limit our group to 30 deans and will adopt a first come, first served approach. See you in New Orleans!

Pat Mather, Bucknell University (ptm008@bucknell.edu)

JB Holston, University of Denver (Jb.holston@du.edu)