

Natalie Wagner
Student Participant
Colorado School of Mines

Biography

Natalie Wagner is an undergraduate student at the Colorado School of Mines (CSM), Golden, Colorado, USA. Currently, Natalie is a research assistant for the Humanitarian Engineering Program at CSM as well as working to complete her Bachelors Degree in Engineering with a Civil Engineering Specialty. She recently helped to create the Presidential and Student Sustainability Committees at CSM, and has been working with the Student Platform for Engineering Education to help plan the Student Forum at the ASEE Global Colloquium. She aspires to incorporate project related experiences into general engineering education, emphasizing the ethical and moral aspects of international engineering.