

CALL FOR PAPERS AND PRESENTATIONS - 2016

The Construction Engineering Division seeks presentations and invites submission of abstracts for the 2016 ASEE Annual Conference in New Orleans, Louisiana, June 26-29, 2016. Papers related to construction engineering and management education, partnerships between industry and academe, and the results of innovative or technological based educational practices will be considered. Works-in-progress will also be considered. Topics of particular interest include:

- Assessment practices for course and student learning outcomes
- Building information modeling (BIM) and other virtual simulation technologies
- Capstone, experiential, and project-based courses and activities
- Case studies in construction education and industry practice
- Cloud computing and other data management strategies
- Construction law, contracts and ethics
- Design of temporary structures and facilities
- Distance, on-line and hybrid course delivery and instructional technologies
- Graduate education and strategies for integrating research into the classroom
- Industry collaboration and advisory boards
- Integrated project delivery (IPD) and other alternative project delivery methods
- K-12 outreach

Abstracts should be approximately 500 words in length and should provide a clear statement of the objective and its relevance to the construction engineering and construction management professional and/or educational community and should indicate topical area. Abstracts for papers on work-in-progress will be accepted.

Abstracts must be submitted electronically through the ASEE website.

Authors of accepted abstracts will be invited to prepare a full paper for blind peer review and publication in the conference proceedings. Papers must demonstrate an appropriate level of scholarship and should incorporate solid research methodologies.

Paper presentations will be assigned to either poster or presentation sessions. Approximately half of the presentation sessions will use a round-table format in which authors of papers on similar topics will present brief summaries, followed by a moderated discussion on the topic.
